One day, a ship with people from all over the world arrived in the city where Martín lived.
Upendo, a kid his same size, but with dark skin, was on the dock.
Martín had never seen a dark-skin kid before, so he thought he was made of chocolate; to prove it, he decided to give him a little bite.